My dear

I am very glad you called me the other night. After I recovered from the initial shock of our telephone conversation I was able to think things out for myself. Forgive me for acting so stubborn and hard headed. I realize now I was making the trip for you. I thought you wanted it since it was your idea. If nothing more, this episode must prove to you that I still have a lot of feeling for a little boy named Sandy.

Write to me from time to time while you are on vacation - and send me a postcard from California and let me know all about the exam. My vacation begins May 24th so write me at home - Palma Dala - But I beg of you not to mention ^(while I'm home) anything about my plans to meet you in Los Angeles. Let's both try to forget it too

Guess this is all for now.
Wishing you the best of luck on your exam. I just know you will pass.

Love,
Dorinda

P.S. I feel right inside - I'm happy and I want you to be happy too.
